Nick Ridpath

Phone: +447833340131   D.O.B: 19/5/1997

Education

University of Oxford
DPhil in Economics   2020 – Present
Supervisors: Hamish Low and Sarah Clifford
Title: Life Cycle Analyses of Public Policy Questions
Research Area: Dynamic Structural Modelling, Household Economics

University of Oxford
MPhil in Economics   2018 – 2020
Distinction

University of Oxford
BA in Philosophy Politics and Economics   2015 – 2018
First Class Honours

Employment experience

Research Economist   2023-Present
Institute for Fiscal Studies
Working in the Education and Skills Team, focusing on longitudinal outcomes of education policy interventions.

PhD Placement Economist   2022
Department of Work and Pensions
Working as an economist to help inform the calculation of child maintenance.

Research Assistant   2019 – 2021
University of Manchester
Assisting Associate Professor Nuno Palma in research focusing on Economic History.

Graduate Teaching Assistant,   2020 – 2023
University of Oxford
Teaching first year masters' economics students microeconomics, with a focus on contracting problems and public economics.

Research Assistant, Economics Department   2019
University of Oxford
Work compiling research outputs of faculty at the department for submission, as well as research work analysing the impact of papers produced by faculty members.

Seminars	Università Ca' Foscari, SasCa PhD Conference	2022
	University of Oxford, Departmental Seminar	2022
	University of Oxford, Departmental Seminar	2021
Honors and scholarships	Department of Economics One-Year Bursary	2022-2023
	Oxford-Chellgren Graduate Scholarship (University College)	2020-2022
	Top Decile in Cohort (MPhil in Economics)	2019
	First overall in PPE Preliminary Examinations in Oxford	2016

Skills

Programming

Very Experienced in: Python, STATA, LaTeX, Fortran.

Some Experience in: R, SAS.